

I watched her go: a splash of gold in a black and white world.

Carrying her grandmother's pendant in her hand. It was a twin to the one I wore around my own neck.